

In honor of the 100th Anniversary of the Cherry tree planting in Washington, DC, the Consulate-General of Japan at Denver and the Japan America Society of New Mexico presents

The Makioka Sisters

A Film By Kon Ichikawa

Revolving around the changing of the seasons, the film follows the lives of four sisters who have taken on their family's kimono manufacturing business over the course of a number of years leading up to the Pacific War. This graceful study of a family at a turning point in history is a poignant evocation of changing times and fading customs.

First in a series of film events presented by JASNM
